

PLUTO IN CAPRICORN CONJUNCT MY NATAL MOON IN CAPRICORN

On Christmas eve, December 24, 2021, the planet Pluto was 25°43' of Capricorn conjunct my natal moon in Capricorn 25° 42' within one celestial minute. What you are going to read below is absolutely true. As of January 21, 2022 this is most likely the most intense emotional time of my life but there is light at the end of the tunnel.

“This transit signifies a time of extremely powerful emotional change in your life, which can affect your immediate personal surroundings, your home, family, and your innermost psychological development. The feelings evoked by this transit are raw and urgent. You may be surprised at the intensity of some of the internal forces that you will discover, and making yourself deal with these feelings may be the most difficult part of this transit.

Pluto signifies breakdown and reconstruction, while the Moon signifies your innermost personal life, which you usually depend on to be stable, predictable and supportive as you face the external world. Now this aspect of your psyche is in a state of acute transformation, and that is what makes this transit so powerful. The actual experience can vary tremendously because so many different areas in your personal and emotional life can be activated, but here are some of the typical manifestations.

First of all, on the innermost psychological level, this transit can indicate an enormous emotional change that activates complexes within you that have lain dormant since childhood. You may repeatedly find yourself in situations in which you act as a compulsive child rather than an a rational adult. The problem is that your “rational” adulthood has never dealt with these repressive energies, which must be dealt with. You may need psychotherapy or a related technique (prayer and being focused in the here and now) in order to handle what comes up at this time.

On another level, this transit can transform all your emotionally based relationships, such as those with your spouse, family and parents, particularly your mother. One of these relationships may end completely for any number of reasons., occasionally including death. Relationships with women in general may become particularly intense, regardless of your own sex. For example, you might have an intense emotional involvement at all psychological levels with a woman, or you might be involved in an acute power struggle with a woman close to you who seems to be trying to run your life. (true!)

On a more external level this transit can affect your home in a number of ways. You may change your residence, or you may make great changes in your present residence. Repairs may be necessary in order to prevent serious disintegration of a building...

Like other Pluto transits, this one may be upsetting now, (oh boy is it!) but in reality it is the preparation for a new stage of development. (Yea. Some peace in my life.) Keep yourself flexible so that the necessary changes can take place with a minimum of disruption.” 1.
